

LIWONDE NATIONAL PARK

An area of flood plain grassland, reed swamps and floating meadows. The Shire River flows through the park south of Lake Malawi, providing a life-giving source to the waterbuck, sable and impala, which graze on the flood plains, while the herds of elephants drink and bathe in the river. Further into the park, the habitat changes to provide refuge to a variety of other animals including lion, leopard, kudu and other mammals. The park boasts over 370 bird species including Malawi's only population of Lillian Lovebirds, the elusive Brown Breasted Barbet, Pels Fishing Owl and Palm Nut Vulture.

A day trip to the area is a 1.5 hours' drive, 90km, from The Makokola Retreat to the park, with the optional lunch at Mvuu Camp and a boat trip on the Shire River with an experienced wildlife guide. The trip takes a full day and offers an enjoyable insight into Malawi's wildlife and contrasting scenery.
